

THE MALDIVES

Known for volcanic atolls and crystal-clear waters, this blissful Indian Ocean archipelago welcomes travellers whether they're looking to snorkel among coral reefs or just relax on a sunny beach. Choose between island hopping on a land-based tour; sailing aboard a traditional dhoni (max 10 pax); or aboard our newly-refurbished and upgraded dhoni, the Sea Farer (max 14 pax).

When to go

There's no bad time to visit the Maldives — this is a year-round destination.

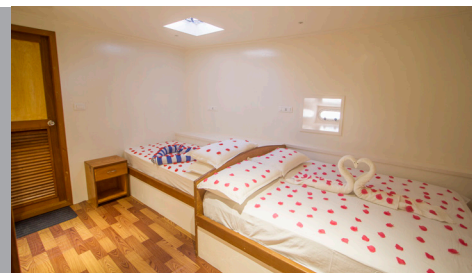

You should know

- › The Maldives are dry islands, so there's no alcohol served on the land portions of our tours. If travellers are looking to have a drink, they're only served on resorts and boats. Alcohol and soft drinks are available for purchase on board
- › Out of respect for local culture, travellers should bring a cover-up (such as a rain jacket or shawl) to wear when exploring the islands on land

Who are these tours for?

- › People looking to explore the Maldives for less than the price of all-inclusive floating villas, while experiencing a cultural side they might not get when staying at a resort
- › Maldives land-based tours are great for travellers who are prone sea sickness and would rather sleep on land

Meet the Sea Farer

Fully refurbished in 2018, this 27-metre (88-foot) upgraded dhoni (traditional Maldivian sailboat) comfortably accommodates 16 travellers. It holds four en suite cabins with bunk beds, two en suite cabins with double beds and separate single beds, and one en suite cabin with twin beds. The boat features a bar, dining area, library, sun deck, and television with DVD player.
