COSTAL TRAIL

On this trail you can observe the most representative ecosystems of the coast of Quintana Roo, such as the coastal scrub, rocky and sandy beach, which are very important not only for their biodiversity, but for the environmental services they provide, which include protection from storm surges, stabilization of the coastline, as well as being a key location for sea turtles nesting areas.

JUNGLE AND MANGROVE TRAILS

On this trail you can observe cenotes and the typical sinkholes of the Yucatán Peninsula as well as mangrove and low jungle vegetation. More than 122 plant species and 97 animal species inhabit these environments, so it is advisable to walk silently for a greater opportunity to observe them.

Relax and enjoy two unique spaces for your well-being. We have a lazy river, where you can float peacefully as you let yourself be carried by the current, and a calm pool, perfect for immersing yourself in peace and serenity—ideal for disconnecting and enjoying moments of tranquility.
